Spot four poorly designed features in this questionnaire

1. Asking about the accurate age of the person……it would have been better if he asked about the range of his age
2. The last question should have used likert scale or semantic differential scale
3. Question 4 should have been categorized according to the person experience with internet into different versions
4. Question 2 should have used semantic differential scales